Love Me Tender, Che Guevara

Title: Love Me Tender, Che Guevara: A Horror Play in Two Acts
Playwright: David Freeman
Director: Hiram Alexander Orozco
Category: Gallery in Theatre B
1st Rehearsal: August 31
Load In: October 4
Tech/Dress: October 5-7
Performances: October 8-11

Roles to be Cast
- Houston - American male, late 20s, author from Seattle, fidgety and spiteful. Think coyote. Actor should be prepared to be physical.
- Pluto - American male, early 40s, large man, friendly but dangerous, never sleeps, used to be a truck driver, could be on the run.
- Diego - Bolivian male, late 20s, local gangster and grave robber, someone who spent their childhood watching VHS tapes of Elvis Presley and John Wayne.
- Santa Lucina - Bolivian female, mid 20s, a native of the Bolivian jungle, speaks often in a heightened mythical register. Actor should be prepared to be physical.

Synopsis

Love Me Tender, Che Guevara: A Horror Play in Two Acts is a comedy about a failed children's author who travels to Bolivia in search of Che Guevara's missing hands. In his search for the hand bones, the author must confront a bounty hunter blackmailer, a local Bolivian gangster with a chainsaw, and an ancient monster in the jungle that is said to resemble a massive glow-in-the-dark skeleton bird. This play contains adult language, graphic violence, physical combat, gore, and Elvis Presley.

Notices

Holiday Conflicts
- Sept. 7 – Labor Day
- Sept. 14-15 – Rosh Hashana
- Sept. 23 – Yom Kippur
- Sept. 24 – Eid al-Adha
- Sept. 28–Oct 4 – Sukkot