

Visual Art and Literature

Literature and Culture of 19th Century Britain: Visual Art with and against Literature

Like most practices in nineteenth-century Britain, the visual arts progressed rapidly and dramatically. Styles and schools of painting were hotly debated. Such passionate and prolific activity brought this teeming artistic culture into intense competition with poetry, prose, and other modes of writing, but it also sometimes worked in harmony with these verbal arts. In this course, we will pay substantial attention to both forms of expression and discover, through this juxtaposition, a complex view of the values and aesthetics of nineteenth-century Britain. We will look at paintings, sketches, and written texts by J.M.W. Turner, John Keats, P.B. Shelley, S.T. Coleridge, Alfred Tennyson, D.G. Rossetti, Elizabeth Siddal, William Holman Hunt, Mary Elizabeth Braddon, Charles Dickens, Oscar Wilde, Vernon, Henry James, and Amy Levy. We will also analyze illustrations in contemporaneous newspapers and periodicals for further cultural context. Requirements include one analytical paper, one research paper, quizzes and brief writing assignments, a presentation, and the creation of a wiki website.

Visual Art with and against Literature

Search

DG Rossetti's Poems and Paintings

Henry James's The Aspern Papers

Samuel Taylor Coleridge

Tennyson' s Lady of Shalott

*Vernon
Lee's Oke
of Okehurst*

*Walter Pater's
The Renaissan ce*

Henry Wallis, Chatterton (1856)

Course
Tools
Syllabus
Wiki Assignme nt

Wiki Tools
Wiki How To Page
UI Help Desk

Tag Cloud

alienation beauty benny_ramos betrayal birth characters charity charles_dickens charlotte_bronte childhood children class class_distinctions conflict corruption crime cursed_diamond darwinism death debt degeneration desire dickens education emotion empire england eq uality evolution expectations family fate fire foreign friendship gender george got hic holmes home horror imperialism india inheritance innocence insanity isolation jane_eyre jean_rhys law literature london love madness marri age masculinity money murder mystery narrators nature new_woman novel orphans passion play poetry power proposal race relationship relati onships religion revenge romance scandal science science_fiction se cret secrets serial_fiction sexuality sherlock short_story slavery SOCI ety style suicide supernatural superstition suspense sympathy time tropes truth uncanny victorian watson wealth women